

ERT CASE SUMMARY

FIELD OFFICE: Denver
CASE CAPTION: ERIC HARRIS;
DYLAN KLEBOLD;
UNSUBS;
COLUMBINE HIGH SCHOOL,
LITTLETON, COLORADO;
FIREARMS ACT - HOMICIDE

PREPARED BY: SA [REDACTED]
DATE: 04/20/1999
TO FILE# 174A-DN-57419

DATE OF ERT RESPONSE: 04/20/1999 TIME EXPENDED: 700 Hours

NUMBER OF ERT PERSONNEL INVOLVED: Twelve (12)

BRIEF NARRATIVE OF EVENTS ERT Denver was called upon to assist local law enforcement on the Columbine High School massacre.

Twelve (12) students and one (1) teacher were murdered by two (2) students on campus who then later committed suicide while on scene. Multiple surrounding crime scene technicians were also involved in the operation. FBI and Colorado Bureau of Investigation (CBI) had the largest teams. ERT assisted with processing the body scenes which included evidence of a large amount of gunfire, both by suspects and law enforcement officers.
Also the suspects exploded numerous pipe bombs and other smaller devices throughout the school and outside. Basically, the entire campus was a crime scene except for the gym. ERT was on-site for approximately one (1) week. Also, the Investigative and Prosecutive Graphics Unit was called upon to assist and ERT was directly with them.

[REDACTED] Several minutes after the start of fifth period [REDACTED] heard gunshots outside the school. The gunshots lasted for approximately one to one and a half minutes, and appeared to be coming from the back door area of the library. The gunshots sounded like a cap gun or a paint ball gun. [REDACTED] knew more people in the library heard the gunshots, but everyone seemed to ignore them and go about their business. He then began hearing more continuous gun fire. He does not recall the direction or location of the gunfire. A teacher ran into the library and said something to the effect of, "They have guns and get down." Barrett remembered it was a female teacher but did not remember what she looked like. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] This was just prior to the gunmen entering the library. [REDACTED] recalled a fire alarm going off at that time, but didn't know if it came from the library or the hallway. [REDACTED]

The gunmen came into the library and he heard them stating something about "revenge" or "getting back" at something or someone. The gunmen moved to the west side of the library and [REDACTED] could hear gunshots. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] he did hear someone (male voice) say something about "a nigger." This comment came from the west side of the library.

[REDACTED] mainly laid on the floor listening. He heard lots of gunshots and probably four to five bombs explode within the library. The bomb explosions shook the [REDACTED] the walls, and made the floor vibrate. He continued to hear gunshots and explosions within the library, for a period that seemed to be twenty-five to thirty minutes. [REDACTED] could not tell by the sound of the gunshots where in the library the gunshots were being fired. [REDACTED]

Napalm is used to burn people, houses, cars, or anything else that can be burnt. It can be produced in a wide variety of ways and by using pages of different ingredients. In this text I will review the methods and ingredients that I have found to be most promising.

INGREDIENTS: In just about every "anarchist" cookbook you can find you will see tons of napalm recipes.

Through trial and error I have found that only a few are worth the trouble. Although, some of my tests can not be considered completely accurate since I was short on time and resources because of the war. First of all, one of the best recipes is actually the simplest. Motor oil and gasoline in a glass bottle is about all you need. You could spend hours and hours and lots of money to make a batch of napalm that if at all is only a little better. Styrofoam and gasoline is a fairly good mixture, but it has its drawbacks. Styrofoam and gas makes a solution that reminds me of pizza dough. It is rubbery, stringy, and is a bitch to transfer from containers. It burns for a good while, and after it is done burning it turns into a hard, black, plastic-type substance. I won't know how well it spreads upon explosion until actual combat, so I can't say anything about that. Another problem is that it takes about 20 cups of Styrofoam to make 1 cup of napalm. So unless you own a packing service, it is hard to make a decent sized batch. Personally I was able to make about a gallon of the stuff, but it wasn't easy and I was almost discovered thanks to that fucking ever-present gasoline stench. As far as wax, petroleum jelly, and bleach go I would need to do more extensive tests to come to any concrete conclusion. I know that bleach+gas works a little worse than gas alone and that is the same for Vaseline+gas, and laundry detergent+gas. But, heating the solution could make very large differences. I saw somewhere that egg whites, salt, and gas makes good napalm, but that is utter bull shit. Not only is it fucking expensive and extremely time consuming, but also gas by itself is ten times better than that crap. Toilet paper and gas might be a good mixture, but unfortunately I only had time to do a small test. Results from that were very good though.

I have tried model glue also, and the results were about the same as gas alone. In short, you are much better off using gas and oil instead of any, and I mean fucking ANY, other mixture because it is cheaper, easier, quicker, and works just as good or better than anything else does. It is a waste of time, effort, and resources to try to figure out the ideal recipe when gas and oil will do the job just fine. If it can burn, the molotov cocktail will most likely burn it.

STORAGE: Storing gasoline is one of the biggest pain-in-the-ass tasks I have gone through in the pre-war era. First of all, you have to take into account that any extra gas containers lying around the shed or garage can easily cause suspicion. Second of all, it smells. So putting a couple jars in your closet is a bad idea. Third, gas expands when it is hot, so you don't want to put it in your trunk under a blazing sun all day long, because it might just blow up. So some good storage areas are deep in garage closets that are rarely visited, in your trunk if the weather is not hot at all, or under a tarp in your yard some place, if you have a rather fucking large and wooded property around your house. Other than those suggestions, you are on your own. Just be smart and remember the basic principles of gasoline. It's flammable, it smells, it expands when hot, and it needs a very good seal to prevent leakage from the container.

[REDACTED] does recall seeing [REDACTED] sitting at table [REDACTED] with other students. She did not know the names of the other students.

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED] had a good view of the front door from her seat. Approximately five minutes after sitting down, a lady teacher came running into the library yelling. She was asking where [REDACTED] was and stated something about there being guys with guns and to get under the tables. The teacher went all the way around the librarian's counter. [REDACTED] a student, followed the teacher into the library. He stumbled and fell to the floor after going through the book detection system. He got up and also went around the librarian's counter. At that point [REDACTED] had not started to hear any noises. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

A very tall, large white male teacher in his forties with glasses on came out of the magazine room or one of the other back rooms. [REDACTED] thought the teacher may have been [REDACTED]. The teacher was motioning and saying to get out. She then lost sight of him and didn't see where he went. [REDACTED] got under the table [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] was whimpering and crying and [REDACTED] kept telling her it would be okay. She then started hearing popping noises which she thought were paint ball guns. The popping sounds were in short bursts and were coming from the hallway outside the library. At this point she still didn't think it was real and thought it may be a senior prank. The popping sounds kept getting closer and closer to the library. She then heard screaming in the hallway outside the library. The screaming was moving from the Commons area towards the science and math areas of the school. At that point [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] realized that this was real. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] She couldn't see anything and [REDACTED] never let her look up during the whole incident. [REDACTED] began shaking uncontrollably. She began to feel the floor shaking and thought the floor might crash down. Two or three explosions caused the shaking and she thought they had come from the Commons area.

She thought the gunmen must have been right at the front entry of the library as she could hear gunshots radiating within the library. The gunman said something immediately upon entering the library. She doesn't specifically remember what they said. The gunmen didn't waste any time and started shooting immediately upon entering the library. [REDACTED] began hearing debris flying and items ricocheting. [REDACTED] could hear the gunmen talking and shooting in the west section of the library. She kept hearing glass flying around. The sound was not of glass shattering but of glass flying around in the air. She heard [REDACTED] of the gunmen say, "Hey, you in the white hat." She thought they may have been talking to [REDACTED] as he took off his hat and hid it. [REDACTED] The gunmen's voices seemed so happy. They would "yippee" and "wahoo" like a victory cheer after shooting. [REDACTED] did not hear single gunshots, but thought they were always in multiple numbers. The gunshots echoed throughout the library and it sounded like the gunmen were right next to you. She used their voices to tell what direction they were from her and how close they were to her. She heard them say, "Who's ready to die next?" and "Who's next?" She remembers hearing a comment of "There's that nigger." This comment was followed by multiple gunshots, three or four gunshots in rapid succession. She thought the comment was made near the reference table.

b7D

The fire alarm started going off in the library right after the gunman entered. She remembers smelling something burning or singeing. [REDACTED] did hear a blood-curdling scream coming from the east side of the library. She thought the scream may have come when the gunmen first entered the library.

[REDACTED] wouldn't let [REDACTED] look up at all. But based upon the voices of the gunmen, she knew they moved from the west side over to the east side of the library. She heard more gunfire and screaming. She does not recall any specifics of the gunfire on the east side. She then could hear them moving up into the middle section. She doesn't know if they came into the middle from the back or front of the section. The gunmen started shooting in the back section. They commented about needing to reload and being out of ammunition. [REDACTED] heard them putting things down on a table and then sounds of them fiddling with their weapons. They were talking about "clips" and "ammo" during the noise. She thought they were close to her table and thought they may have been at table [REDACTED]. Very close to her table and possibly also at table [REDACTED]. She heard one of the gunmen ask, "Who is that?" She heard a response, [REDACTED]. One of the gunmen then said, "You haven't done anything to us. Get out." She could then hear someone run out the front door of the library. The middle chair of her table was pushed in by somebody. The chair hit her in the back of her right arm. She thought the gunmen may have moved the chair so they could get by their table. About that same time she heard one of the gunmen state that they had "wanted to do this their whole lives." There were numerous gunshots within the middle section, but she did not recall the specifics or location of the gunshots. The last comment by the gunmen she heard in the middle section was about a knife. One of the gunmen stated, "I've always wanted to kill somebody with a knife." After this comment the library got quiet.

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED] Things were scattered everywhere, including chairs and backpacks. They ran around the computer tables next to the windows on the west side of the library. As she went by the computer tables she saw a "kid" slumped in the side of a cubbyhole of the computer table. She did not see the student's face. She had seen other bodies laying on the floor on the west side. Her main focus was on exiting the library and she was not paying attention to the details around her. She did state that the library was really smoky and bad smelling.

They continued to the back door of the library. Students were coming out of the offices in the hallway leading to the back door. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] had been holding gum in her hand during the entire incident in the library. She had taken it out of her mouth as she didn't want to choke on it. She finally dropped the gum in the hallway by the back door. After exiting the back door she ran up a small hill and hid behind a police car. Her sandals kept falling off and she stumbled as she ran up the hill. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] Attachment B is a diagram of the Columbine High School grounds. [REDACTED] indicated on the diagram the location of the police car.

There were two police officers hiding behind the police car. She saw numerous students behind the police vehicle. These students included [REDACTED] [REDACTED]. Numerous of the students were injured, including one boy with multiple wounds laying on the ground. His eyes kept rolling back and other students kept talking to him trying to keep him alert. [REDACTED] was injured and [REDACTED] could see the joint in her shoulder. [REDACTED] leg was bleeding but he was still trying to help other injured students. [REDACTED] had been hurt in the leg and [REDACTED] was bleeding in his finger and ankle.

b7D

At some point after reaching the police car, one of the police officers stated there was somebody on the roof. Shortly after that comment, other police cars started shuttling the injured students from behind the initial police car. They were shuttled to the shed next to the soccer field. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] She started to walk away from the school and saw news media running down from the top of Rebel Hill. [REDACTED] stated that at that time she was still hysterical. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] said the gunmen seemed to be in the library for approximately thirty minutes. She said it could have been only about ten minutes though. She stated that it was hard to differentiate between the explosions that occurred within the library. She heard what she thought were approximately five different explosions within the library. She could not distinguish between what might have been a pipe bomb explosion or a CO₂-canister explosion.

[REDACTED] had a [REDACTED] purse that was left in the library. The purse has a long strap. In her purse was her student identification, driver's license, debit card and some cash. She left her backpack on top of table [REDACTED]. The backpack contained a Texas Instruments TI-85 graphing calculator, glasses, books and notebooks. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] heard popping sounds coming from outside the west windows of the library. The sounds were coming from the back stairs of the school. [REDACTED] looked out the windows. He looked down and into the parking lot. He didn't see anybody out there and thought that was very strange. Within a few seconds, [REDACTED] came into the library frantic and out of breath. [REDACTED] said, "Get under the desk" and "He has a gun." She must have been looking for the librarian as she also said, "Where's [REDACTED]" Everyone in the library was puzzled by her comments. The windows had muffled the sounds of the gunshots but [REDACTED] thought they were not a high-caliber-sounding gunshot. [REDACTED] knows a paintball gun to be a thirty-two caliber gun and thought that's what the sounds were. He thought since the sounds were of a paintball gun that this was a senior prank.

[REDACTED] saw [REDACTED] pick up a telephone and then heard her talking. He began walking back to his table when he heard another student [REDACTED] state, "Dude, go get down." [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] he told [REDACTED] to get down, but he still didn't think it was a big deal. [REDACTED] laid down under the table [REDACTED]

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED] was lying on the floor hugging up to the legs of [REDACTED] table. They did not pull the chairs in around their table.

[REDACTED] felt an explosion which he thought was coming from underneath him in the cafeteria. At that point, he knew that it was more than a senior prank [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] He then could hear gunfire in the hallway moving toward the library. The gunfire sounds were muffled by the table and the bookcases within the library. He could hear a shotgun and a small-caliber weapon being shot. The gunshots were getting louder and he knew they were getting closer to the library, but he didn't know from which direction in the hallway they were approaching.

b7D

[REDACTED] then could hear two voices outside the library in the hallway. The voices then sounded like they were just inside the library and he heard a few gunshots. The shots sounded like they were coming into the library and were fired by both guns. He then heard them say, "This is for all the times we've been made fun of" and, "All the jocks are going to die." He then heard a male voice from over near table #1 or 2 ask, "What are you doing?" He heard a response by, he believes, one of the gunmen, stating, "We're just goin' around killin' people." He believes the voice that responded was Dylan Klebold's.

Next he heard gunfire near the librarian's table. The gunfire was from both guns. He then heard the gunman comment, "We've always wanted to do this" or something like that. This comment was made near the Librarian's table. The gunman also stated something to the effect of them "going to blow up the library." At that point he saw two sets of feet [REDACTED]

b7D

[REDACTED] Both sets of feet were wearing black boots. To look up in that direction he had to rotate his head back and look up that direction. After seeing the sets of feet he immediately ducked his head back under. He then heard an explosion that was not as loud as the other explosions he had already heard or would hear in the library. After the detonation he looked back up at the reference table and could see a cloud of smoke. The explosion put out a lot of smoke.

[REDACTED] then heard them moving and thought they were moving back towards the east side of the library. He then heard two more explosions that he stated were ear-piercing and deafening. Due to the echoing of the explosions within the library he couldn't tell from which direction they came.

He then started hearing gunfire which he believes was coming from the east side of the library. His ears were ringing and it was difficult to tell where in relation to his table they were shooting. Because the library is carpeted, it was difficult to hear them walking. At that point he glanced over and saw [REDACTED] sitting under table #11. [REDACTED] was sitting with his knees pulled up and his head against the table. [REDACTED] seemed to be in his own little world. He can't recall the number of shots he heard, but he heard two distinctive sounds of gunfire. He was also hearing shotgun pellets hitting things and ricocheting.

The next gunfire he heard was on the west side of the library, and [REDACTED] he could begin to hear them talking. He heard one of them say, "Anybody with a white hat on is going to die." They then said, "You with the white hat." This comment sounded like it was coming towards his table from behind him [REDACTED]. After the comment he heard four or five gunshots but couldn't tell from which gun the shots were fired. He wasn't really paying attention to which gun was being fired but was more worried about the proximity of the gunman to their table. Whenever there was gunfire within the library, it was always multiple shots. The next comment by the gunman he heard was about somebody's glasses. They called somebody a "nerd" and that was followed by gunfire. The next comment he heard was something to the effect of, "Oh, look at the little nigger." The gunman never used his name, but [REDACTED] figured it must have been Isaiah Shoels based upon the media reports he's seen. This statement was followed by several gunshots.

The gunmen then moved, and the next thing he remembers was hearing them in the back of the center portion of the library. He doesn't know if it was the voices or gunshots behind him that told him they were in the back section. [REDACTED] looked back and up and could see the faces of both gunman between table #13 and 14. He saw them set some things down on the table, but he couldn't distinguish which table, either table #13 or 14. [REDACTED] could see Dylan Klebold from the chest up. Klebold was wearing dark clothing and a backward Boston Red Sox hat. Klebold always wore the Boston Red Sox baseball hat backward in school. When [REDACTED] pictures Klebold in school, he also pictures him in a trench coat. He couldn't tell if Klebold was wearing a trench coat when he saw him back by table #13 or 14. Klebold did have a sawed-off shotgun and appeared to be loading it from the bottom. He could hear Klebold loading only a couple of shells into the gun. He then heard Harris say that he dropped a clip and he was out of ammo. Harris also stated he had to reload. [REDACTED] saw Klebold only from the shoulders or chest up. He saw more of Klebold than he did of Harris, as Klebold was more in his line of sight. To see Harris he had to really kink his head to see Harris to the left of Klebold. He could tell that Harris was holding a gun like a pistol which was black in color. He was just holding the gun and was not pointing it.

[REDACTED] believes prior to Harris and Klebold reloading that he heard one of them state, "Who's under that table?" The response back was, [REDACTED] He heard Harris say, "I know you. I'll let you live", and then, "Get up, get up." He then could hear [REDACTED] footsteps running out of the library. He could not tell what direction [REDACTED] was running.

b7D

[REDACTED] then remembers hearing Klebold make a comment about a knife. Klebold said he "always wanted to kill somebody with a knife." This comment was made in the back section of the center portion of the library. This statement was made just before Harris made a comment about needing to reload.

The next thing he remembers hearing was the sound of somebody throwing a chair. This sound came from the front, east portion of the library. This was the last sound he heard in the library.

It got real quiet in the library and after about thirty seconds [REDACTED] turned and saw someone walking by the computer tables. He figured they could see the front doors and that the gunmen were gone. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED] he saw a young, white boy underneath the desk. He saw him only for a split second and thought he had multiple body wounds and possibly one in the forehead. They exited out the back door of the library and moved up the hill, hiding behind a police car. [REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

[REDACTED] While hiding [REDACTED] he did hear gunshots. He doesn't know if it was a gunshot into or out of the school. This was about the time the SWAT teams were arriving in the parking lot. The SWAT team shot numerous rounds back into the school. [REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

b7C

b7D

While he was in the library [REDACTED] could hear what he thought were misfired bullets. When the gunmen were on the west side of the library, [REDACTED] got peppered by pellets, possibly ricochets, on his back. The gunshots and explosions within the library were magnified by the design of the room. The voices of the gunmen gave a better direction and idea of how close they were to his table. The fire alarm went off in the library at approximately the same time [REDACTED] heard the explosion that he thought was a "dud." The alarm was so loud and annoying that he could hear it ringing in his ears a day after the incident.

[REDACTED] knew both Harris and Klebold. [REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED] Klebold possibly was also a Student Assistant or at least helped out in the Tech Lab. [REDACTED]
[REDACTED] Klebold was not as talkative as Harris. [REDACTED] considered both to be pretty quiet. [REDACTED] thought both Harris and Klebold were into computers and thought they were both "normal."

[REDACTED] "Mobs of students" were now exiting the school out the east door of the Math/Science hallway. [REDACTED] believed a lot of these students were from the cafeteria. The kids were panicking. She then heard more explosions and the teachers began having the students jump the picket fence into Leawood Park. A few minutes after getting into Leawood Park a rumor spread that there was a gunman outside of the school building. The teachers started to get the students in houses located around the park. b7C was moving toward the greenroom she heard three gunshots coming from outside in the hallway. After hearing the gunshots, the students all moved into the greenroom.

The greenroom is the closest science room to the stairs leading down to the commons/cafeteria. The greenroom has two doors, one exiting to the hallway known as the Math/Science hallway. The other door leads into Science Room 11. The door to the hallway was locked. That door does have a window but a poster had been taped against the window. The greenroom does have one window that looks out onto the student parking lots.

and feel explosions. [redacted] never looked at her watch to put a Within the auditorium were students from the choir room, cafeteria and a class that was being held on the auditorium stage. After getting in the auditorium he heard an explosion that sounded like it came from behind the stage and appeared to be downstairs in the commons. He then heard several gunshots which sounded like they were also coming from behind the stage. He does not specifically remember how many gunshots he heard. He then ran to the north side of the auditorium exiting into the main hallway. He looked left, or west, down the hallway and could see that the fire doors were closed. He turned right and went down the hallway and was told by [REDACTED] to go down the hallway [REDACTED]. He ran down that hallway and exited out the doors [REDACTED].

[REDACTED] only heard gunshots and explosions and never saw any gunmen.

[REDACTED] thought that there may have been a senior prank [REDACTED] Last year the seniors poured baby oil down the stairs leading to the commons area. One girl fell and broke her leg and also hurt her back.

[REDACTED]

b7C

b7D

As he walked past [REDACTED] he glanced at his watch and remembers it to be 11:18 a.m. He did hear five to ten firecracker sounds coming from outside the school by the library. He doesn't remember at what point he was in the hallway when he heard those sounds but thought they were again attributable to the senior prank. He walked through the fire doors that are located [REDACTED]

After going through the doors he looked up and saw two white males at the end of the hallway near the glass exit doors. One of them was facing out the glass doors and the second one was facing down the hallway toward the library. The individual facing the doors turned clockwise, or the opposite direction of the other guy, and was now facing down the hallway towards [REDACTED]

b7D

[REDACTED] This individual was very tall and from the angle [REDACTED] had looked like he would have had to duck to get through the doors. He was wearing a black Trenchcoat, a hat or beret, dark in color, and had dark clothing under the coat. He was holding a semi-automatic weapon with a very large clip hanging down from it. [REDACTED] saw his face partially and thought based upon his dress and size that it may have been [REDACTED] He was not a hundred percent positive that it was [REDACTED] He described [REDACTED] as being 6'6" to 6'7" tall and having lots of zits. dressed like that individual in the hallway before and was basing his identification of the individual being [REDACTED] based solely on how tall he was and his clothing.

This individual began shooting toward [REDACTED] turned around and began to run east down the hallway. He heard bullets ricocheting off lockers. He ran through the right side of the fire doors. There is a wall above the fire doors that connects to the ceiling. As he ran through the fire doors there was dust coming down from the ceiling or the wall above the fire doors. He continued running down the hallway hugging the wall until he reached [REDACTED] continued to hear gunshots as he ran down the hallway. He does not know if all the gunshots were directed at him, but he assumes they were as he does not remember anyone else [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] He ran down that hallway until he reached the [REDACTED] hallway. He remembers [REDACTED] [REDACTED] He doesn't know how many rounds were shot [REDACTED] by this individual. He thought he heard approximately 20 rounds go off.

After he turned the corner and entered the [REDACTED] hallway he doesn't remember hearing any shooting. When he arrived at [REDACTED] hallway, he looked right or west down the hallway. He saw lots of students running down the hallway from what he thought was probably the cafeteria. He turned left down the hallway and ran toward the exit by the math rooms. As he was running down the hallway he did hear more gunshots down near the west end of the [REDACTED] hall. He heard two distinct gunshot sounds. After exiting the school he heard the fire alarm go off. He kept running [REDACTED] were shoulder to shoulder and his view of this person was partially blocked. He described this individual as a white male with dark hair and not being very tall. He was at least six inches shorter than the first individual. He thought this individual may have been wearing a trenchcoat but wasn't positive because they were standing so close together. His view of this person was only from the side but he could tell that the individual was holding a shotgun. The shotgun was pointed down the hall toward the library. He couldn't see either the individuals faces very well as they were being backlit by the doors on the west end of the hallway. He doesn't not remember seeing any broken windows in the glass doors at that time.

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED] There are three small areas of grass with trees located just outside the cafeteria. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED] had seen Eric Harris and Dylan Klebold in the hallways of the school. He occasionally would say "hi" to them and they would say "hi" back. He only knew their first names. He did know them to be included in the group called the Trenchcoat Mafia. Some of [REDACTED]'s friends often talked with them, including [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] (phonetic). [REDACTED] had been a member of the Trenchcoat Mafia until last year. She thought that they were getting too involved with Hitler so she left the group.

parking lot and near the school building, approximately 30 yards Southwest of the first male. [REDACTED] is familiar with the sound of a shotgun [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] heard this shotgun and another, different, gun being shot but he did not see a second gun. [REDACTED] does not know how many rounds were fired towards the senior parking lot. [REDACTED] saw 3 or 4 people in the senior parking lot as the second male was firing into the lot. [REDACTED] saw these people drop to the ground but does not know if they were shot.

The second male then turned towards the soccer field and fired 5 or 6 rapid fire shotgun blasts towards people on the soccer field. [REDACTED] saw one person get shot near the edge of the soccer field that is closest to the school. [REDACTED] then saw a second person get shot on the soccer field. This person was located to the west, southwest of the first person who got shot. [REDACTED] thinks that one of the persons who was shot was shot in the ankle. There were approximately 10 or 11 people on the soccer field at this time. b7C b7D

[REDACTED] saw a pump handle on the shotgun that the second individual was holding and a black barrel. [REDACTED] did not see any other weapons. [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] started running after the second individual fired [REDACTED]

From the time [REDACTED] heard the firecrackers to the time he started running was approximately one minute. [REDACTED] did not hear the individuals say anything and thinks that some of the shots he heard from the gun which was not a shotgun might have been explosions. [REDACTED] did not see the second individual reload his shotgun.

[REDACTED] does not know Eric Harris or Dylan Klebold. He could not identify the two individuals he saw near the school due to the fact that he was approximately 60 yards away from them.

[REDACTED] then heard gunmen coming into the Library. The gunmen began shooting right after they entered the front entrance of the Library. No one in the Library was talking and [REDACTED] could hear the gunmen saying things. The gunmen went into the east area of the Library and [REDACTED] heard one of them state, "I've been waiting for this for a long time". [REDACTED] saw one of the gunmen near the reference table. He described the gunman as tall, wearing a black hat with blond hair coming out of the hat. The gunman was wearing a trenchcoat and [REDACTED] noticed something white underneath the coat. The gunman was carrying a sawed-off, short-barreled shotgun in his right hand. [REDACTED] placed the name Dylan Klebold with the gunman after seeing his name and picture in the media.

[REDACTED] had heard a frantic female voice state, "oh my god, I don't wanna die". This was followed by a gunman stating, "do you believe in God". [REDACTED] heard a response to the effect of "please I don't want to die". The gunman then asked again if that person believed in God. [REDACTED] heard her respond, "yes I do". This was followed by several gunshots and [REDACTED] did not hear her voice again. At that point he could hear other female students making noises and being frantic. During this conversation [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] were just looking at each other in amazement.

The next comment [REDACTED] heard was one of the gunmen stating, "getting a fucking jock". He also heard one of them state, "get anyone with white hats". At that point [REDACTED] took off his [REDACTED] hat and put it underneath his shirt. [REDACTED] then heard gunshots in the computer area. [REDACTED] He heard one of the gunmen state, "are you a jock" and he thought he heard [REDACTED] voice respond. This was followed by more gunshots. [REDACTED] then hears who believes is Klebold talking to a Hispanic girl near table #20. He then heard gunshots in that area. At this point [REDACTED] is laying down underneath his table in a fetal position with his head underneath the table. He could see toward table #20 and if he turned his neck to the front area. [REDACTED] mostly was trying to keep his head facing down and was not looking around.

After hearing the gunshots near table #20, he believes Klebold saw Isiah Shoels and yells to the other gunman, "there's a fucking Nigger over here". [REDACTED] did not look up and there was a pause in the conversation between the gunmen. At the same time Klebold makes his "Nigger" comment [REDACTED] is hearing gunshots in an area over by the computer tables. [REDACTED] then heard the other gunmen say something to the effect of "get that fucking Nigger". He quickly looked up and could see Shoels trying to back away toward the east. [REDACTED] looked back down and heard gunshots (more than one), possibly from a shot gun. The sounds from the gunshots and possibly an explosion were so loud that [REDACTED] thought his ears were going to bleed. For a short period of time after the gunshots and explosion under his table, [REDACTED] memory is "fuzzy". Based on the way the gunmen referred to Shoels, [REDACTED] thought that they didn't really know Shoels personally.

[REDACTED] continued to keep his head down and was praying. He prayed the whole time the gunmen were in the Library. He was quietly praying and was probably was only moving his lips. [REDACTED] memory is fuzzy after the shooting [REDACTED] but thinks the gunmen left his area of the Library and moved to other areas and continued shooting. The gunmen were probably in the Library for eight minutes, but it seemed that they were there much longer. [REDACTED] thought the gunmen had been in the middle area of the Library prior to shooting Shoels and also after they left the west side of the Library. [REDACTED] did look up at one point to look at Shoels and Kechter. Shoels was lying down facing away and was in a pool of blood. Kechter seemed to be leaning against a chair with his eyes shut and blood coming out of his ears. Kechter had a hole in his side or his stomach and smoke was coming out of the hole. Shoels and Kechter were leaning against each other and both were breathing and moaning at that time. There was so much blood [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] looked back down and continued to pray the same prayer over and over. He asked God to take away the fear and give him strength.

During about the time [REDACTED] looked at Shoels and Kechter, he remembers hearing a gunman state, "I wonder what's it like to use a knife on someone". The gunman was very close by, but [REDACTED] could give no direction.

After the knife comment the Library got quiet and [REDACTED] could hear gunfire coming from the hallway outside of the Library. [REDACTED] after asking God to take away the fear and give him strength said, "I think they're gone, let's get out of here". [REDACTED] got up and started to move and as he approached table #18 could see [REDACTED] standing up near table #20. [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] had apparently gotten under table #20. [REDACTED] did not know how they had gotten back to that table from their original seats at table #8.

As [REDACTED] turned to look toward the computer tables and the back door of the Library, he saw a girl under the computer table. The girl, he believes named [REDACTED] was not tucked totally under the desk and had a big hole in her right shoulder. [REDACTED] could see her shoulder joint and blood running down her arm. He noted everyone was getting up slowly around him. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] They quickly ran out of the room to the back exit as more of the students headed that way. [REDACTED] continued down the hall to the back door. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] they both ran up behind a police car parked on the side of the hill.

Approximately fifteen students were hiding behind the police car. Behind the police car were two police officers pointing their guns toward the Library. The cops began asking the students questions and [REDACTED] remembers answering the police officer in a shaky voice. The police officer asked what they (the gunmen) looked like and [REDACTED] told the police officer there was two of them. One he said was in a black trenchcoat and black hat. The police officer then asked how many were dead and he told him, he didn't know. The police officer then asked where in the Library the subjects were and [REDACTED] told them they had left the Library and he heard gunshots in the hallways outside of the Library. This police officer was near the front tire of the police car. Attachment C is diagram of Columbine High School including the parking lots. [REDACTED] indicated on the diagram the location of the police car.

While he was behind the police car, [REDACTED] continued to silently pray. One of the police officers told the students to help the other injured students. [REDACTED] began talking to the injured students and told them they were okay and they were out of the school. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED] At the same time, he could see other police officers along the fence up the hill behind them. He asked some of the other students if they had any brothers and sisters in the school and said he would pray for them. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] did recall seeing [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] one of whom had been were shot, behind the police car.

After a period of time another police car came down to their location. The most seriously injured students were loaded into this first vehicle and five injured students were crammed into the back of the police car. A couple minutes later another police car came down to their location and was filled with more injured students. [REDACTED] came down to their location and transported students away from the scene. [REDACTED] continued his praying as the students were being shuttled away. The two police officers behind his vehicle did shoot at something or someone at one point. He believes that someone may have been firing at the police car as he heard one of the cops say, "they're shooting at us". [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] continued to pray, as this was the only thing he knew to do. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] A number of the students in this group had brothers or sisters still in the school. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED] did feel three or four big explosions in the Library at the time the shooting occurred. He cannot place the explosions in sequence with the gunmen's movement within the Library. He did hear two or so explosions prior to the gunmen entering the Library. There were additional explosions after the gunmen left the Library or as they were leaving the Library. [REDACTED] did not see the second gunman and only saw that he was wearing black Army or military style boots. He cannot place the location that he saw the second gunman's boots.

[REDACTED] did not know Dylan Klebold or Eric Harris. He had seen both of them around school, but did not know their names. [REDACTED] never had any classes with either Klebold or Harris.

[REDACTED] has a [REDACTED] backpack with a leather bottom that should be on top of table [REDACTED] The backpack
