Mr. Mark J. Mershon, Special Agent in Charge
Federal Bureau of Investigation - Denver Division
1961 Stout Street - Suite 1823
Denver, CO 80294-1823

Dear Mr. Mershon,

On December 17, 1999, the Sheriff's Office will honor approximately two hundred local, state, and federal law enforcement professionals for their service in the Columbine High School incident. Awards will range from the Sheriff's Medal of Valor for deputies and officers who conducted rescue efforts to certificates of appreciation for participation in the investigation task force.

To underscore the significance of the event and the unparalleled cooperation among the participating agencies, I would ask your assistance in extending our invitation to Attorney General Reno and Director Freeh to attend and briefly address the award recipients and their families. Similar invitations are being forwarded to the Director of the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms and the Director of the Colorado Department of Public Safety.

The awards ceremony will begin at 2 p.m. at the Jefferson County Fairgrounds auditorium in Golden, followed by refreshments beginning at about 4:30 p.m.

Please feel free to contact me if you require additional information or if I can otherwise be of assistance to you or the Bureau.

Sincerely,

JOHN P. STONE, SHERIFF

Synopsis: The Jefferson County Sheriff's Office, Golden, Colorado, will extend invitations to Attorney General Janet Reno and Director Freeh to attend a 12/17/1999 ceremony honoring approximately 200 local, state, and Federal law enforcement professionals for their service in the Columbine High School incident. SAC, Denver recommends favorable consideration consistent with AG Reno's and Director Freeh's schedules.

Details: Sheriff John P. Stone, Jefferson County, Colorado Sheriff's Office (JEFFCO) has advised the Denver Division that he will extend invitations to Attorney General Janet Reno and FBI Director Louis J. Freeh to attend a 12/17/1999 ceremony to honor approximately 200 local, state, and Federal law enforcement professionals for their service in the Columbine incident. Awards will range from the Sheriff's Medal of Valor for deputies and officers who conducted rescue efforts to certificates of appreciation for participation in the investigation task force. The Denver Division SWAT and ERT Teams responded to the incident and Division personnel were heavily involved in the investigation task force.

Sheriff Stone has advised that AG Reno and Director Freeh will be invited in order to underscore the significance of the event and the unparalleled cooperation among the participating agencies. The invitations will be extended formally to AG Reno and Director Freeh on or about 11/18/1999 via letter and will include a request that AG Reno and Director Freeh briefly address the award recipients and their families. FBI puts 'risk list' out for schools

60 factors to help ID violent students

By Janet Bingham
Denver Post Education Writer

The FBI, using information from shootings at Columbine High School and other schools, has developed about 60 risk factors to help identify potentially violent students.

In a report to be released next month, the agency also will suggest ways for parents and teachers to evaluate the seriousness of threats and determine how to help the students who make them.

"A lot of people threaten and say things. Ninety-nine percent of the time they don't carry it out. But you have to have a process to review that," said report author Mary Ellen O'Toole, supervisory special agent for the FBI's National Center for the Analysis of Violent Crime in Quantico, Va.

"There is no profile of a student shooter," O'Toole stressed. Rather, the report is intended to help schools "size up a threat, determine its credibility or lack of credibility and determine an intervention."

Some critics are concerned, however, that the risk factors may be used to unfairly label students as potential criminals.

Others suggest that teachers and parents should put less emphasis on "risk factors" and more emphasis on the assets that make for a successful life.

The FBI last July brought together officials from Columbine High, Jefferson County and other areas devastated by school shootings to a private "Threat Assessment" symposium in Washington, D.C. One goal was to look for similarities among the gunmen, what sparked their rampages and any common behavior patterns in their families.

The FBI center's profilers have been made famous by the movie "Silence of the Lambs" and the NBC-TV show "Profiler."

The center studied 18 incidents dating to the early 1990s — 14 school shootings and four foiled attempts — where the motive didn't appear to involve drugs or gangs. It also drew from 20 years of experience assessing threats of all kinds. "We get thousands of cases a year where people threaten to shoot or bomb," O'Toole said. "We determine which are real, which are bogus."

The shooting incidents, while highly visible and traumatic, are exceedingly rare, she said. By themselves, they don't offer enough data to draw firm conclusions.

For instance, an "offender profile" based on only six school shootings and published recently in the FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin mentioned that the school shooters "appeared to be loners."

But based on the larger number of shootings and data drawn from case files, "We are not finding that," O'Toole said. "They may have a small circle of associates, but they aren't loners."

In the end, "the 60 risk factors were not commonalities in the shootings," O'Toole said. "Characteristics of past events don't become predictors of future events when you have such a small number of cases."

Although she declined to list the risk factors before the report is released, she said teachers might want to ask "if Johnny is the type of student who has a fragile ego, doesn't handle feedback well, is narcissistic, thinks the world centers around him, blames others for what happens to him," and what is the culture of the school and how is it affecting him?

Among other risk factors: Does he have problems expressing anger? Does he show an inordinate fascination with violent movies, books and music? Has he talked or written about committing violent acts?

acts?

"You've got to go below the surface. . . . We're saying look at the student's behavior, his personality, the family dynamics, the school dynamics and other social issues such as drugs and alcohol. Look at the total student and everything that impacts him, and not just on one day. People's personalities come through only when you see them in a lot of situations. . . .

"A lot of kids will have these risk factors. A lot of kids will have a bad . . . day. This just offers a tool."

The report also will suggest ways to identify a high-, medium- or low-level threat. School authorities, inundated with threats in recent months, "want to know how to size up a threat, which ones to spend a lot of time on, which ones to address but not make a big deal out of," O'Toole said.

"A student may brag all he wants, but does he have access to weapons, experience with guns? If the answer is yes, that would raise a bit of a red flag."

On the other hand, if a kid simply comes into class dressed differently from others, "Is that significant? By itself, it probably isn't. . . ."

The report will recommend that every school have a "threat assessment process," announced at the beginning of the year. An intervention team with representatives from the school and community might help assess the seriousness of a threat and an appropriate intervention.

But Kevin Dwyer, president of the National Association of School Psychologists, worries that some children will be labeled unfairly. He is especially critical of Mosaic 2000, a threat-evaluation computer program being developed by a private company and the Federal Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms. It claims to be able to spot and rate potentially violent students on a scale of one to 10.

"Once you start giving somebody a label, you dehumanize them," Dwyer said. "We have to develop relationships with these troubled kids, look at what is needed to support them, so they don't turn their rejection into frustration."

Peter Benson, president of the Search Institute in Minneapolis, suggests that parents and teachers promote assets — "the good things that every kid deserves." His organization is working with the Colorado Trust on a five-year initiative called Assets for Colorado Youth. "This is the other side of the coin."

To identify risks and try to reject them can be a good thing. But a complementary strategy is to name strengths and promote them like caring neighborhoods, positive family communication, intergenerational relationships.

"Asset-building is about mobilizing people to promote the good stuff, to build strengths in kids."

Dear [Redacted]

This letter is being sent to you, along with evidence which was collected during the investigation of death threats made on 09/04/1999 and 09/05/1999.

Please See the inventory of evidence submitted, dated 09/04/1999 and 09/05/1999. We request that you analyze the following evidence for DNA and handwriting comparison purposes with pieces of evidence previously submitted by the Jefferson County Sheriff's Office (JCSO Items #1-S and #6-S, respectively):

1. (FBI Item #1B10) Handwriting exemplars.
2. (FBI Item #1B9) Four (4) saliva samples; one (1) control sample.

All of the above-described items were originally submitted into the Denver FBI evidence vault by members of our Joint Terrorism Task Force. This evidence is being submitted in connection with an official investigation of a criminal nature. As evidence in this matter was originally submitted to your office for examination by the JCSO, we do not intend, nor has it been, forwarded to our lab for examination.

We respectfully request that you return all evidence in their original containers to this Office upon completion of your examination. Please include written results of your findings.

Synopsis: Information received concerning web site named columbinerebels.8m.com containing descriptions of proposed violent behavior and instructions in building pipe bombs.

Details: The following information is provided to Denver Field Office for any action deemed appropriate as no further investigation is contemplated at Los Angeles.

On 10/4/99, [redacted]
FREESERVERS.COM, Internet Service Provider (ISP), [redacted]
[redacted] Orem, Utah, 84097, telephone [redacted]
[redacted] fax [redacted] telephonically contacted the writer concerning a web page named "columbinerebels.8m.com" which contained several pages describing the unknown author's resentment toward those who would disagree with him/her and proposed acts of violence to include using a shotgun on them.

b7C

In addition to instructions on the making of pipe bombs, and other explosive devices by ERIC HARRIS, the author said that she/he had built (4) four pipe bombs and given them names. The pages also contain exclamations of the author's proposed violent actions, such as, "i WILL shoot to KILL and i WILL fucking KILL EVERYTHING!" This web site concerned [redacted] to the extent that he exercised the ISP prerogative and removed the web site, saving it to tape back up for later examination by law enforcement authorities.

To: Denver From: Los Angeles
Re: 288A-LA-0, 10/05/1999

To allow the writer to view the web site, [redacted] temporarily copied the web site back onto the computer system and permitted access via the Internet. These pages were viewed by the writer and selected pages were printed on paper to allow examination by other law enforcement officers. The web site was removed after the writer viewed the pages. Copies of these print outs are attached to this communication.

[redacted] said that the log records indicate that the web site was set up using the electronic mail (email) box named [redacted]@aol.com". This most recent contacts from the America Online email account took place on September 20, 1999 at 03:18 and 03:51 Mountain Daylight Time (MDT), and September 27, 1999 at 19:18, which is when the page lisa.html was copied to [redacted] computer system to be posted as part of the web site.

On one of the pages, the name of [redacted] telephone [redacted] was identified as someone the author dislikes. b7C

[redacted] advised that in light of the shootings at the COLUMBINE HIGH SCHOOL in Colorado, he believed that indications of other violent individuals should be reported to the appropriate authorities. [redacted] concluded by advising that he would be available for further inquiry and that he would await re-contact by the writer or other law enforcement officers.

The writer will be available to re-contact [redacted] at the request of the receiving offices.

Wie gehts,

Well all you people out there can just kiss my ass and die. From now on, i dont give a fuck what almost any of you mutha fuckas have to say, unless i respect you which is highly unlikely. but for those of you who happen to know me and know that i respect you, may peace be with you and don't be in my line of fire. for the rest of you you all better fucking hide in your houses because im coming for EVERYONE soon, and i WILL be armed to the fucking teeth and i WILL shoot to KILL and i WILL fucking KILL EVERYTHING! No i am not crazy, crazy is just a word, to me it has no meaning, everyone is different, but most of you fuckheads out there in society, going to your everyday fucking jobs and doing your everyday routine shitty things, i say fuck you and die. if you got a problem with my thoughts come tell me and ill kill you, because.....god damnit, DEAD PEOPLE DONT ARGUE!

God DAMNIT I AM PISSED!

Wie gehts.

REBEL NEWS: Yo, this page will be getting some bigass changes soon. ill be adding some new pages to it such as 'New group names' and 'Top10 lists.' Gonna have some cool shit, check it out or ill blow you up cause jo mamma.....is so fat.

Homework sucks.

Mother fucker blew BIG. Pazzie was a complete success and it blew dee fuck outa a little creek bed. Flipping thing was heart-pounding gut-wrenching brain-twitching ground-moving insanely cool! His brothers haven't found a target yet though.

Atlanta, Pholus, Peltro and Pazzie are complete. for those of you who don't know who they are, they are, they are the first 4 true pipe bombs created entirely from scratch by the rebels (REB and VoDkA). Atlanta and Pholus are each 1 1/4" by 6" pipes, Peltro is 1" by 6" and Pazzie is 3/4" by 5". Each is packed with powder that we got from fountains, mortar shells and cackering balls. Each also has a +14" mortar shell type fuse. Now our only problem is to find the place that will be 'ground zero'. Me an VoDkA also have made 2 more noisey crickets.

God damn! i'm sick of people saying 'wick' when talking about fireworks! Don't falkin' say anothuh falkin' WICK or f's gone to rip yer falkin' HAID off and YOU-rinate down yo' falkin' neck! ITS FUSE!

Philosophy:

My belief is that if I say something, it goes, I am the law, if you don't like it, you die. If I don't like you or I don't like what you want me to do, you die. If I do some thing incorrect, oh fucking well, you die. Dead people cant do many things, like argue, whine, bitch, complain, narc, rat out, criticize, or even fucking talk. So thats the only way to solve arguments with all you fuckheads out there, I just kill! God I can't wait till I can kill you people. Ill just go to some downtown area in some big ass city and blow up and shoot everything I can. Feel no remorse, no sense of shame. Ich sage FICKT DU! I will rig up explosives all over a town and detonate each one at will after I mow down a whole fucking area of you snotty ass rich mother fucking high strung godlike attitude having worthless piece of shit whores. i don't care if I live or die in the shootout, all I want to do is kill and injure as many of youpricks as I can, especially a few people. Like brooks brown.

America:

Love it or leave it mother fuckers. All you racist (and if you think im a hypocrite, come here so I can kill you! mother fucking assholes in America who burn our flags and disgrace my land, GET OUT! And to you assholes in iraq and iran and all those other little pieces of shit desert lands who hate us, shut up and die! We will kick your ass if you try to fuck with us, or at least I will! I may not like government or the people running it or things like that, but the physical land and location I DO fucking love. So love it or leave it!

Society:

I live in denver, and god damnit, I would love to kill almost all of the resident in it their all into being good people and their like take short showers dont wast water

Heloooooooo everyone. These are the words of wisdom from REB.

This page explains the various things in the world that annoy the SHIT outa me. God I just LOVE freedom of speech. Keep in mind that these are just my point of views, and may or may not reflect on anyone else. I do swear a lot on this page, so fuck off if you're a pussy who cant handle a little god damn bad language heehee. And now to get started:

YOU KNOW WHAT I HATE?

-- When im walking around in a mall and there is this SLOW AS SHIT person walking in front of me! Godammit im trying to get somewhere! So move it or lose it BITCHES!

YOU KNOW WHAT I HATE?

-- When there is a group of assholes standing in the middle of a hallway or walkway, and they are just STANDING there talking and blocking my fucking way!! Get the fuck outa the way or ill bring a friggin sawed off shotgun to your house and blow your snotty ass head off!

YOU KNOW WHAT I HATE?

-- When people don't watch where THEY ARE FUCKING GOING! Then they plow into me and say 'oops, sorry.' or 'watch it!' NNNYAAAA! Next time that happens I will rip out two of your damn ribs and shove em into your fuckin eyeballs!!

YOU KNOW WHAT I LOVE?

-- When some rich ass stuck up piece of shit white trash person gets in a car wreck with their brand new car!

YOU KNOW WHAT I LOVE

-- When some stupid ass kid blows his fuckin hand off because he couldn't figure out that a lit fuse means the firecracker is going to go off soon! HAHAHA! DUMBASS!

YOU KNOW WHAT I HATE?

-- OOOOOOOOJAAAAAAAAAAAAAY!!!! GOD I FUCKING HATE THAT WORTHLESS TRIAL!! Who in their right feeeeeamRIGIN mind would care about that trial? its not any different from any other murder trial! Tell those fucking reporters to get a life! And what the fuck do we have to gain by watching that stupid trial anyway? Its not news! It's a trial! Not news! Trial!
TrialX=Xnews!

YOU KNOW WHAT ELSE I HATE?

--Jon binay however the fuck you spell her spoiled ass name Ramsee!! We dont care! Good fucking riddens!! What the fuck do you expect if you fucking put you kid in all these beauty pagents when shes 4 years old! SLUUUUUUUUUT!!!! I bet her damn dad did it. Fuckin perrv.

YOU KNOW WHAT I HATE?

-- STUPID PEOPLE! Why must so many people be so stupid!?

YOU KNOW WHAT I LOVE?

-- Making fun of stupid people doing stupid things! Like one time when i was watching this freshman try to get on a computer that needed a password...he typed in the password...and waited. The retard didnt press enter or anything. He just waited. Then he started cussing at the computer saying it was screwed up. Then the freshman went and got a teacher and the fucking teacher could not figure out why it wasnt going anywhere!! JESUS!! Personally i think they should be shot.

YOU KNOW WHAT I LOVE?

--Natural SELECTION!!!! God damn its the best thing that ever happened to the Earth. Getting rid of all the stupid weak organisms... but it all natural! Yes! I wish the government would just take off every warning label, So then all the dumbasses would either severely hurt themselves or DIE! And boom. no more dumbasses. heh.

YOU KNOW WHAT I HATE?

--ASSHOLES THAT CUT!!! Why the fuck cant you wait like every other human on earth does. If you cut you are the following: Stuck up, self centred, selfish, lazy, impatient, rude and...damn i ran out, anyway. Every fucking line i get into i end up having to wait a fucking hour when there WAS only me and 1 other person in the line. Then the queer sucking asshole lets all his/her so called friends cut in behind em! If that happens 1 more time i will have to start referring to the Anarchists cookbook (bomb section).

YOU KNOW WHAT I REALLY HATE?

--LIARS!! OH GAWWWWD I HATE LIARS. And living in this fucking neighborhood there is thousands of them! Why the fuck must people lie so damn much! Especially about stupid things! Like "yeah, I just bought 5 cases of M-60's in Oklahoma for about $5. And they are legal there and everything. Yeah my parents buy most of my guns, every once in a while ill use my 4,000 paycheck and buy a shotgun or 2. And my brand new hummer just broke down on the highway when i was going 250mph. Stupid cars." See that, now, what fucking part if any would a normal human being believe? And thats just one person! Another BIG example is Brooks Brown (303-972-0602). Now, according to him, he has a 215 IQ., 5 other homes (2 in alaska, and 3 in Florida), 95mph fastball (he is only 16), runs a mile in about 5 minutes, has an uncle thats the former head of all the armed forces and has access to...Thece Button...; his other uncle is a multi-millionaire that lives in downtown detroit, his neighbors are the chick that sang "r.e.s.p.e.c.t." and the lead singer of Aerosmith. And that same uncle owns 30% stock of that tylenol company. And his grandparents give...GIVE him about 1000 dollars for each month, and his other Grandpa can blow up every house in America because all the houses have C-4 in the foundations. Again, according to Brooks Brown. Ok, when people lie like that, its not impressive, noone believes it, it sounds just plain stupid, and its a fuckin waste of my time.

YOU KNOW WHAT I HATE?

--R rated movies on CABLE! My DOG can do a better damn editing job than those dumbshits!! For the sake of all television they can at least try to make it sound like actual words the person would say! If you have ever seen Alien or Predator you know what im talking about.

CO2 BOMB

You will have to use up the cartridge first by either shooting it or whatever. With a nail, force a hole bigger so as to allow the powder and wick to fit in easily. Fill the cartridge with black powder and pack it in there real good by tapping the bottom of the cartridge on a hard surface (I said TAP not SLAM!). Insert a fuse. I recommend a good water-proof cannon fuse, or an m-80 type fuse, but firecracker fuses work, if you can run like a black man runs from the cops after raping a white girl.) Now, light it and run like hell! It does wonders for a row of mailboxes (like the ones in apartment complexes), a car (place under the gas tank), a picture window (place on window sill), a phone booth (place right under the phone), or any other devious place. This thing throws shrapnel, and can make quit a mess!!

Paint Bombs

To make a pain bomb you simply need a metal pain can with a refastenable lid, a nice bright color paint (green, pink, purple, or some gross color is perfect!), and a quantity of dry ice. Place the paint in the can and then drop the dry ice in. Quicky place the top on and then run like hell! With some testing you can time this to a science. It depends on the ratio of dry ice to paint to the size of the can to how full it is. If you are really pissed off at someone, you could place it on their doorstep, knock on the door, and then run!! Paint will fly all over the place HAHHAHA!!

Mail Box Bombs

(1) Two litre bottle of chlorine (must contain sodium hypochlorate)

Small amount of sugar

Small amount of water

Mix all three of these in equal amounts to fill about 1/10 of the bottle. Screw on the lid and place in a mailbox. It's hard to believe that such a small explosion will literally rip the mailbox in half and send it 20 feet into the air! Be careful doing this, though, because if you are caught, it is not up to the person whose mailbox you blew up to press charges. It is up to the city.

LIGHTBULB BOMBS

An automatic reaction to walking into a dark room is to turn on the light. This can be fatal, if a lightbulb bomb has been placed in the overhead light socket. A lightbulb bomb is surprisingly easy to make. It also comes with its own initiator and electric ignition system. On some lightbulbs, the lightbulb glass can be removed from the metal base by heating the base of a lightbulb in a gas flame, such as that of a blowtorch or gas stove. This must be done carefully, since the inside of a lightbulb is a vacuum. When the glue gets hot enough, the glass bulb can be pulled off the metal base. On other bulbs, it is necessary to heat the glass directly with a blowtorch or oxy-acetylene torch. In either case, once the bulb and/or base has cooled down to room temperature or lower, the bulb can be filled with an explosive material, such as black powder. If the glass was removed from the metal base, it must be glued back on to the base with epoxy. If a hole was put in the bulb, a piece of duct tape is sufficient to hold the explosive in the in the bulb. Then, after making sure that the socket has no power by checking with a working lightbulb, all that need be done is to screw the lightbulb bomb into the socket. Such a device has been used by terrorists or assassins with much success, since few people would search the room for a bomb without first turning on the light.

20/

Nail Grenade

Effective fragmentation grenades can be made from a block of tnt or other blasting explosive and nails.

Material Required:

Block of TNT or other blasting explosive

Nails

Non-electric (military or improvised) blasting cap

Fuse Cord

Tape, string, wire, or glue

Procedure:

1) If an explosive charge other than a standard TNT block is used, make a hole in the center of the charge for inserting the blasting cap. TNT can be drilled with relative safety. With plastic explosives, a hole can be made by pressing a round stick into the center of the charge. The hole should be deep enough that the blasting cap is totally within the explosive.

2) Tape, tie, or glue one or two rows of closely packed nails to the sides of the explosive block. Nails should completely cover the four surfaces of the block.

3) Place blasting cap on one end of the fuse cord and crimp with pliers.

NOTE: To find out how long the fuse cord should be, check the time it takes a known length to burn. If 12 inches (30 cm) burns for 30 seconds, a 10 second delay will require a 4 inch (10 cm) fuse.

4) Insert the blasting cap in the hole in the block of explosive. Tape or tie fuse cord securely in place so that it will not fall out when the grenade is thrown.

Alternate Use:

An effective directional anti-personnel mine can be made by placing nails on only one side of the explosive block. For this case, an electric blasting cap can be used.

[[That's all for now!]]

THE BOOK

By: Eric Harris

Pipe bombs.

Pipe bombs are some of the easiest and deadliest ways to kill a group of people or destroy a few things. First off, we will talk about the pipes. Second will be the explosive filler and last will be the shrapnel.

PIPES: Pipes are about as easy to purchase as a CD. You do not want to have the length any longer than 8 inches. Diameter should usually be between $\frac{3}{4}$ " and 2". If it's any longer than around 8" it might not blow up how it's supposed to. If it's thicker than around 2", it will cost you a fuck-load of money. Normal metal galvanized pipes are the best to use, since plastic melts too easy and I don't think copper would be that great. Never did try it though. The way I bought most of my pipes is by going out and getting all of the caps one day, then getting the pipes a few days later, or at a different store.

You don't want to look too suspicious.

After you buy the caps you need to drill a $\frac{1}{8}$ " hole in the center of 1 cap per pipe. This is for the cannon fuse. Be sure to use good quality cannon fuse that isn't bent or taped together, to be sure it all burns correctly. Try to keep that fuse in good condition. Even though you can bend and fold that fuse all to hell and back and it will most likely still burn though, you do not want to have a bunch of your enemies staring at a real heavy paperweight that isn't smoking.

Once you have the hole in the cap stick the cannon fuse through it and tape it on so it doesn't keep moving around. 1-2 inches inside the pipe should be plenty to do the job, but in a fix you can have as little as a fingernail's length. As far as how much you want on the outside, that depends on the delay you want the blast to have. For a grenade type bomb you want about a finger's length, for fun bombs you want about 2 feet, and for time bombs you want about an inch.

Screw that cap onto the pipe nice and hard, and then rig up some sort of holder so you can fill the pipe and not screw up the fuse. There are several ways you can do that, so just be creative and resourceful.

POWDER: The kind of powder I have used throughout my pipe bombs has been mostly the same and has proved its' worth plenty of times. So you really don't have to spend a day making the perfect powder or wasting money and time buying special ingredients to make plastic explosives or TNT or whatever. Normal firework powder works great. I used all sorts of fountains to get my powder from. Almost anything will work. Your other option is actual gunpowder. If yer 18, you can buy this shit at almost any gun store. Buy the fastest burning powder you can, but don't blow your money on something too expensive. Gunpowder is gunpowder. 15 dollars will buy you about a coffee can full. The best way to de-powder fountains is to get a real sharp knife and cut it in half, and squish and tap all of the powder out. Be sure you don't get any of the orange crap in the powder though, that shit is called clay. It don't blow up. It may be time consuming but I say it's worth it. If you are doing it inside your room be sure you have plenty of newspaper down because accidents do happen and if you have a big black stain on yer carpet, mom and dad might ask some questions. Another thing, surgical gloves come in handy too, because your hand will be completely black by the time you are done. I used a coffee can to store the powder in, but really anything with a good lid and a wide mouth will do. Cool looking glass containers like at Hobby Lobby come in handy if you want to keep certain kinds of powder separated.

Once you have all of the powder ready and the pipe+cap+fuse stabilized, go ahead and start pouring that shit in. Use a funnel for small diameter pipes, or a folded sheet of paper or cardboard for larger pipes. After it's about half full, tap it on a hard surface until it will not settle any more. You want as much powder as physically possible in there. Once it is full, repeat the last step. Then add a little mountain of powder on top of the full, settled powder and screw on the cap. It might be wise to wipe down the threads to remove any shit there. The tighter those 2 caps are on, the better. Once that is on you are basically ready to go. I put about 2 layers of duct-tape on my bombs so they make less noise when transporting them. Just be sure that fuse is on there good and solid.

SHRAPNEL: Shrapnel is very important if you want to kill and injure a lot of people. Almost anything small and metal will work. From paper clips cut into pieces to 2" nails. You can use screws, solder, BB's, pellets, nails of all kinds, buckshot of all sizes, twisted diskette centers, or any other kind of metal object that can be twisted into a small size, and hell I'm sure staples would even be useful. Small handgun ammunition might even be an interesting addition to large sized bombs. What I have done in the past is just tossed a few screws or 1" nails into the powder on the sheet of cardboard and dumped it in just as I would normal powder. I have used a lot of #8 buckshot too, and for this I would either sprinkle it in as I am pouring the powder in, or use the method just described. If you are using nails it might be a good idea to have them right up against the pipe walls, so the go faster farther. As far as taping, tying, or gluing nails onto the, outside of the pipe, I am not sure that method works. I did try it on the Delta batch, and since they won't be used until NBK it'll be kind of hard to report the results. You might try asking the survivors if they got a good look at the bomb before it went off and then the remains!

Napalm.

Napalm is used to burn people, houses, cars, or anything else that can be burnt. It can be produced in a wide variety of ways and by using pages of different ingredients. In this text I will review the methods and ingredients that I have found to be most promising.

INGREDIENTS: In just about every "anarchist" cookbook you can find you will see tons of napalm recipes. Through trial and error I have found that only a few are worth the trouble. Although, some of my tests can not be considered completely accurate since I was short on time and resources because of the war. First of all, one of the best recipes is actually the simplest. Motor oil and gasoline in a glass bottle is about all you need. You could spend hours and hours and lots of money to make a batch of napalm that if at all is only a little better. Styrofoam and gasoline is a fairly good mixture, but it has its drawbacks. Styrofoam and gas makes a solution that reminds me of pizza dough. It is rubbery, stringy, and is a bitch to transfer from containers. It burns for a good while, and after it is done burning it turns into a hard, black, plastic-type substance. I won't know how well it spreads upon explosion until actual combat, so I can't say anything about that. Another problem is that it takes about 20 cups of Styrofoam to make 1 cup of napalm. So unless you own a packing service, it is hard to make a decent sized batch. Personally I was able to make about a gallon of the stuff, but it wasn't easy and I was almost discovered thanks to that fucking ever-present gasoline stench. As far as wax, petroleum jelly, and bleach go I would need to do more extensive tests to come to any concrete conclusion. I know that bleach+gas works a little worse than gas alone and that is the same for Vaseline+gas, and laundry detergent+gas. But, heating the solution could make very large differences. I saw somewhere that egg whites, salt, and gas makes good napalm, but that is utter bullshit. Not only is it fucking expensive and extremely time consuming, but also gas by itself is ten times better than that crap. Toilet paper and gas might be a good mixture, but unfortunately I only had time to do a small test. Results from that were very good though.

I have tried model glue also, and the results were about the same as gas alone. In short, you are much better off using gas and oil instead of any, and I mean fucking ANY, other mixture because it is cheaper, easier, quicker, and works just as good or better than anything else does. It is a waste of time, effort, and resources to try to figure out the ideal recipe when gas and oil will do the job just fine. If it can burn, the molotov cocktail will most likely burn it.

STORAGE: Storing gasoline is one of the biggest pain-in-the-ass tasks I have gone through in the pre-war era. First of all, you have to take into account that any extra gas containers lying around the shed or garage can easily cause suspicion. Second of all, it smells. So putting a couple jars in your closet is a bad idea. Third, gas expands when it is hot, so you don't want to put it in your trunk under a blazing sun all day long, because it might just blow up. So some good storage areas are deep in garage closets that are rarely visited, in your trunk if the weather is not hot at all, or under a tarp in your yard some place, if you have a rather fucking large and wooded property around your house. Other than those suggestions, you are on your own. Just be smart and remember the basic principles of gasoline. It's flammable, it smells, it expands when hot, and it needs a very good seal to prevent leakage from the container.

LIST OF USEFUL HOUSEHOLD CHEMICALS AND THEIR AVAILABILITY

Anyone can get many chemicals from hardware stores, supermarkets, and drug stores to get the materials to make explosives or other dangerous compounds. A would-be terrorist would merely need a station wagon and some money to acquire many of the chemicals named here.

& The iodine sold in drug stores is usually not the pure crystalline form that is desired for producing ammonium triiodide crystals. To obtain the pure form, it must usually be acquired by a doctor's prescription, but this can be expensive. Once again, theft is the means that terrorists result to.

LSD

I think, of all the drugs on the black market today, LSD is the strangest. It is the most recent major drug to come to life in the psychedelic subculture. (Blah blah blah... let's get to the good stuff: How to make it in your kitchen!!)

- 1) Grind up 150 grams of Morning Glory seeds or baby Hawaiian wood rose seeds.
- 2) In 130 cc. of petroleum ether, soak the seeds for two days.
- 3) Filter the solution through a tight screen.
- 4) Throw away the liquid, and allow the seed mush to dry.
- 5) For two days allow the mush to soak in 110 cc. of wood alcohol.
- 6) Filter the solution again, saving the liquid and labeling it "1."
- 7) Resoak the mush in 110 cc. of wood alcohol for two days.
- 8) Filter and throw away the mush.
- 9) Add the liquid from the second soak to the solution labeled "1."
- 10) Pour the liquid into a cookie tray and allow it to evaporate.
- 11) When all of the liquid has evaporated, a yellow gum remains. This should be scraped up and put into capsules.

30 grams of Morning Glory seeds = 1 trip

15 Hawaiian wood rose seeds = 1 trip

Many companies, such as Northop-King have been coating their seeds with a toxic chemical, which is poison. Order seeds from a wholesaler, as it is much safer and cheaper. Hawaiian wood rose seeds can be ordered directly from:

LSD DOSAGES

The basic dosages of acid vary according to what kind of acid is available and what medium of ingestion is used. Chemically, the potency of LSD-25 is measured in micrograms, or mics. If you're chemically minded or making your own acid, then computing the number of micrograms is very important. Usually between 500 and 800 mics is plenty for an 8 hour trip, depending on the quality of the acid, of course. I have heard of people taking as much as 1,500-2,000 mics. This is not only extremely dangerous, it is extremely wasteful.

LSD comes packaged in many different forms. The most common are listed below:

- 1) The brown spot, or a piece of paper with a dried drop of LSD on it, is always around. Usually one spot equals one trip.
- 2) Capsuled acid is very tricky, as the cap can be almost any color, size, or potency. Always ask what the acid is cut with, as a lot of acid is cut with either speed or strychnine. Also note dosage.
- 3) Small white or colored tablets have been known to contain acid, but, as with capsuled acid, it's impossible to tell potency, without asking.

How to grow Marijuana

MARIJUANA

Marijuana is a deciduous plant which grows from seeds. The fibrous section of the plant was (has been replaced by synthetics) used to make rope. The flowering tops, leaves, seeds, and resin of the plant is used by just about everyone to get HIGH. Normally, the vegetable parts of the plant are smoked to produce this "high," but they can also be eaten. The active ingredient in marijuana resin is THC (tetahydrocannabinol). Marijuana contains from 1 - 4 per cent THC (4 per cent must be considered GOOD dope). Marijuana grows wild in many parts of the world, and is cultivated in Mexico, Vietnam, Africa, Nepal, India, South America, etc., etc. The marijuana sold in the United States comes primarily from, yes, the United States. It is estimated that at least 50 per cent of the grass on the streets in America is homegrown. The next largest bunch comes across the borders from Mexico, with smaller amounts filtering in from Panama, occasionally South America, and occasionally, Africa. Hashish is the pure resin of the marijuana plant, which is scraped from the flowering tops of the plant and lumped together. Ganja is the ground-up tops of the finest plants. (It is also the name given to any sort of marijuana in Jamaica.) Marijuana will deteriorate in about two years if exposed to light, air or heat. It should always be stored in cool places. Grass prices in the United States are a direct reflection of the laws of supply and demand (and you thought that high school economics would never be useful). A series of large border busts, a short growing season, a bad crop, any number of things can drive the price of marijuana up. Demand still seems to be on the increase in the U.S., so prices seldom fall below last year's level. Each year a small seasonal drought occurs, as last year's supply runs low, and next year's crop is not up yet. Prices usually rise about 20 - 75 per cent during this time and then fall back to "normal." Unquestionably, a large shortage of grass causes a percentage of smokers to turn to harder drugs instead. For this reason, no grass control program can ever be beneficial or "successful."

GROW IT!

There is one surefire way of avoiding high prices and the grass DT's: Grow your own. This is not as difficult as some "authorities" on the subject would make you believe. Marijuana is a weed, and a fairly vivacious one at that, and it will grow almost in spite of you.

1591

Contrary to popular belief, grass grows well in many place on the North American continent. It will flourish even if the temperature does not raise above 75 degrees. The plants do need a minimum of eight hours of sunlight per day and should be planted in late April/early May, BUT DEFINITELY, after the last frost of the year. Growing an outdoor, or "au naturel", crop has been the favored method over the years, because grass seems to grow better without as much attention when in its natural habitat. Of course, an outdoors setting requires special precautions not encountered with an indoors crop; you must be able to avoid detection, both from law enforcement freaks and common freaks, both of whom will take your weed and probably use it. Of course, one will also arrest you. You must also have access to the area to prepare the soil and harvest the crop. There are two schools of thought about starting the seeds. One says you should start the seedlings for about ten days in an indoor starter box (see the indoor section) and then transplant. The other theory is that you should just start them in the correct location. Fewer plants will come up with this method, but there is no shock of transplant to kill some of the seedlings halfway through. The soil should be preprepared for the little devils by turning it over a couple of times and adding about one cup of hydrated lime per square yard of soil and a little bit (not too much, now) of good water soluble nitrogen fertilizer. The soil should now be watered several times and left to sit about one week. The plants should be planted at least three feet apart, getting too greedy and stacking them too close will result in stunted plants. The plants like some water during their growing season, BUT not too much. This is especially true around the roots, as too much water will rot the root system. Grass grows well in corn or hops, and these plants will help provide some camouflage. It does not grow well with rye, spinach, or pepperweed. It is probably a good idea to plant in many small, broken patches, as people tend to notice patterns.

GENERAL GROWING INFO

Both the male and he female plant produce THC resin, although the male is not as strong as the female. In a good crop, the male will still be plenty smokable and should not be thrown away under any circumstances. Marijuana can reach a hight of twenty feet (or would you rather wish on a star) and obtain a diameter of 4 1/2 inches. If normal, it has a sex ratio of about 1:1, but this can be altered in several ways. The male plant dies in the 12th week of growing, the female will live another 3 - 5 weeks to produce her younguns. Females can weigh twice as much as males when they are mature. Marijuana soil should compact when you squeeze it, but should also break apart with a small pressure and absorb water well. A nice test for either indoor or outdoor growing is to add a bunch of worms to the soil, if they live and hang around, it is good soil, but if they don't, well, change it. Worms also help keep the soil loose enough for the plants to grow well.

SEEDS

To get good grass, you should start with the right seeds. A nice starting point is to save the seeds form the best batch you have consumed. The seeds should be virile, that is, they should not be grey and shiriveled up, but green, meaty, and healthy appearing. A nice test is to drop the seeds on a hot frying pan. If they "CRACK," they are probably good for planting purposes. The seeds should be soaked in distilled water overnight before planting. BE SURE to plant in the ground with the pointy end UP. Plant about 1/2" deep. Healthy seeds will sprout in about five days.

SPROUTING

The best all around sprouting method is probably to make a sprouting box (as sold in nurseries) with a slated bottom or use paper cups with holes punched in the bottoms. The sprouting soil should be a mixture of humus, soil, and five sand with a bit of organic fertilizer and water mixed in about one week before planting. When ready to transplant, you must be sure and leave a ball of soil around the roots of each plant. This whole ball is dropped into a baseball-sized hold in the permanent soil. If you are growing/transplanting indoors, you should use a green safe light (purchased at nurseries) during the transplanting operation. If you are transplanting outdoors, you should time it about two hours befor sunset to avoid damage to the plant. Always wear cotton gloves when handling the young plants. After the plants are set in the hole, you should water them. It is also a good idea to use a commercial transplant chemical (also purchased at nurseries) to help them overcome the shock.

31

INDOOR GROWING

Indoor growing has many advantages, besides the apparent fact that it is much harder to have your crop "found," you can control the ambient conditions just exactly as you want them and get a guaranteed "good" plant. Plants grown indoors will not appear the same as their outdoor cousins. They will be scrawnier appearing with a weak stems and may even require you to tie them to a growing post to remain upright, BUT THEY WILL HAVE AS MUCH OR MORE RESIN! If growing in a room, you should put tar paper on the floors and then buy sterilized bags of soil from a nursery. You will need about one cubic foot of soil for each plant. The plants will need about 150 ml. of water per plant/per week. They will also need fresh air, so the room must be ventilated. (however, the fresh air should contain NO TOBACCO smoke.) At least eight hours of light a day must be provided. As you increase the light, the plants grow faster and show more females/less males. Sixteen hours of light per day seems to be the best combination, beyond this makes little or no appreciable difference in the plant quality. Another idea is to interrupt the night cycle with about one hour of light. This gives you more females. The walls of your growing room should be painted white or covered with aluminum foil to reflect the light. The lights themselves can be either bulbs of fluorescent. Figure about 75 watts per plant or one plant per two feet of fluorescent tube. The fluorescents are the best, but do not use "cool white" types. The light sources should be an average of twenty inches from the plant and NEVER closer than 14 inches. They may be mounted on a rack and moved every few days as the plants grow. The very best light sources are those made by Sylvania and others especially for growing plants (such as the "gro lux" types).

HARVESTING AND DRYING

The male plants will be taller and have about five green or yellow sepals, which will split open to fertilize the female plant with pollen. The female plant is shorter and has a small pistillate flower, which really doesn't look like a flower at all but rather a small bunch of leaves in a cluster. If you don't want any seeds, just good dope, you should pick the males before they shed their pollen as the female will use some of her resin to make the seeds. After another three to five weeks, after the males are gone, the females will begin to wither and die (from loneliness?), this is the time to pick. In some nefarious Middle Eastern countries, farmers reportedly put their beehives next to fields of marijuana. The little devils collect the grass pollen for their honey, which is supposed to contain a fair dosage of THC. The honey is then enjoyed by conventional methods or made into ambrosia. If you want seeds - let the males shed his pollen then pick him. Let the female go another month and pick her. To cure the plants, they must be dried. On large crops, this is accomplished by constructing a drying box or drying room. You must have a heat source (such as an electric heater) which will make the box/room each 130 degrees. The box/room must be ventilated to carry off the water-vapor-laden air and replace it with fresh. A good box can be constructed from an orange crate with fiberglass insulated walls, vents in the tops, and screen shelves to hold the leaves. There must be a baffle between the leaves and the heat source. A quick cure for smaller amounts is to: cut the plant at the soil level and wrap it in a cloth so as not to lose any leaves. Take out any seeds by hand and store. Place all the leaves on a cookie sheet or aluminum foil and put them in the middle shelf of the oven, which is set on "broil." In a few seconds, the leaves will smoke and curl up, stir them around and give another ten seconds before you take them out.

TO INCREASE THE GOOD STUFF

There are several tricks to increase the number of females, or the THC content of plants: You can make the plants mature in 36 days if you are in a hurry, by cutting back on the light to about 14 hours, but the plants will not be as big. You should gradually shorten the light cycle until you reach fourteen hours. You can stop any watering as the plants begin to make the resin rise to the flowers. This will increase the resin a bit. You can use a sunlamp on the plants as they begin to develop flower stalks. You can snip off the flower, right at the spot where it joins the plant, and a new flower will form in a couple of weeks. This can be repeated two or three times to get several times more flowers than usual. If the plants are sprayed with Ethrel early in their growing stage, they will produce almost all female plants. This usually speeds up the flowering also, it may happen in as little as two weeks. You can employ a growth changer called colchicine. This is a bit hard to get and expensive. (Should be ordered through a lab of some sort and costs about $35 a gram.) To use the colchicine, you should prepare your presoaking solution of distilled water with about 0.10 per cent colchicine. This will cause many of the seeds to die and not germinate, but the ones that do come up will be polyploid plants. This is the accepted difference between such strains as "gold" and normal grass, and yours will DEFINITELY be superweed. The problem here is that colchicine is a posion in larger quantities and may be poisonous in the first generation of plants. Bill Frake, author of CONNOISSEUR'S HANDBOOK OF MARIJUANA runs a very complete colchicine treatment down and warns against smoking the first generation plants (all succeeding generations will also be polyploid) because of this poisonous quality. However, the Medical Index shows colchicine being given in very small quantities to people for treatment if various ailments. Although these quantities are small, they would appear to be larger than any you could recive form smoaking a seed-treated plant. It would be a good idea to buy a copy of CONNOISSEUR'S, if you are planning to attempt this, and read Mr. Drake's complete instructions. Another still-experimental process to increase the resin it to pinch off the leaf tips as soon as they appear from the time the plant is in the seedling stage on through its entire life-span. This produces a distorted, wrecked-looking plant which would be very difficuly to recognize as marijuana. Of course, there is less substance to this plant, but such wrecked creatures have been known to produve so much resin that it crystallizes a strong hash all over the surface of the plant - might be wise to try it on a plant or two and see what happens.

PLANT PROBLEM CHART

Always check the overall enviromental conditions prior to passing judgment - soil around 7 pH or slightly less - plenty of water, light, fresh air, loose soil, no water standing in pools.

SYMPTOM PROBABLY PROBLEM/CURE

Larger leaves turning yellow - Nitrogen deficiency - add smaller leaves still green. nitrate of soda or organic fertilizer. EXTRA SECTION:

BAD WEED/GOOD WEED

Can you turn bad weed into good weed? Surprisingly enough, the answer to this oft-asked inquiry is, yes! Like most other things in life, the amount of good you are going to do relates directly to how much effort you are going to put into it. There are no instant, supermarket products which you can spray on Kansas catnip and have wonderweed, but there are a number of simplified, inexpensive processes (Gee, Mr. Wizard!) thich will enhance mediocre grass somewhat, ant there are a couple of fairly involved processes which will do up even almost-parsley weed into something worth writing home about.

EASES

1. Place the dope in a container which allows air to enter in a restricted fashion (such as a can with nail holes punched in its lid) and add a bunch of dry ice, and the place the whold shebang in the freezer for a few days. This process will add a certain amount of potency to the product, however, this only works with dry ice, if you use normal, everyday freezer ice, you will end up with a soggy mess...

2. Take a quantity of grass and dampen it, place in a baggie or another socially acceptable container, and store it in a dark, dampish place for a couple of weeks (burying it also seems to work). The grass will develop a mold which tastes a bit harsh, a and burns a tiny bit funny, but does increase the potency.

3. Expose the grass to the high intensity light of a sunlamp for a full day or so. Personally, I don't feel that this is worth the effort, but if you just spent $400 of your friend's money for this brick of super-Colombian, right-from-the-President's-personal-stash, and it turns out to be Missouri weed, and you're packing your bags to leave town before the people arrive for their shares, well, you might at least try it. Can't hurt.

4. Take the undisirable portions of our stash (stems, seeds, weak weed, worms, etc.) and place them in a covered pot, with enough rubbing alchol to cover everything. Now CAREFULLY boil the mixture on an ELECTRIC stove or lab burner. DO NOT USE GAS - the alchol is too flammable. After 45 minutes of heat, remove the pot and strain the solids out, SAVING THE ALCOHOL. Now, repeat the process with the same residuals, but fresh alchol. When the second boil is over, remove the solids again, combine the two quantities of alcohol and reboil until you have a syrupy mixture. Now, this syrupy mixture will contain much of the THC formerly hidden in the stems and such. One simply takes this syrup the throughly combines it with the grass that one wishes to improve upon.

SPECIAL SECTION ON RELATED SUBJECT MARYGIN:

Marygin is an anagram of the words marijuana and gin, as in Eli Whitney. It is a plastic tumbler which acts much like a commercial cottin gin. One takes about one ounce of an harb and breaks it up. This is then placed in the Marygin and the protuding knod is roatated. This action turns the internal wheel, which separates the grass from the debris (seeds, stems). It does not pulberize the grass as screens have a habit of doing and is easily washable.

Mother: Threat suspect is scapegoat

Associated Press

FORT MYERS — The mother of a youth accused of sending an online threat to a Columbine High School student fears her son will become a scapegoat for the April school massacre of 13 people in Littleton, Colo.

Pam Campbell said her 18-year-old son, Michael Ian Campbell, meant to tell the Colorado student who got the message it was a joke, not a serious threat. "He just wanted to get a rise out of her, but not to scare her," Mrs. Campbell said.

Campbell was arrested by FBI agents Friday and charged with a using an interstate communications facility to make a threat of injury to another person. He was jailed without bail, awaiting a hearing today on his removal to Denver.

Mrs. Campbell doesn't think her son will get a fair trial in Colorado.

"He lives in Florida. He works in Florida. The message was sent in Florida. Why does he have to go to Colorado?" she asked.

Because of a threat by Michael Ian Campbell, 18, Columbine High School was closed days early.

"All this has to do because of pressure coming from Colorado. The thing is, they couldn't get at the kids who killed themselves and now they have a real live body they can punish."

Two gunmen, seniors at Columbine, killed 12 students and a teacher, then shot themselves to death last spring.

On Dec. 15, Erin Walton, 16, received a message threatening to "finish what begun." She notified Colorado authorities. Because of the threat, the school was shut down for two days.

Mrs. Campbell said her son intended to tell Walton that his message was a joke, but an incoming phone call disconnected the computer server and he forgot to go back online to clarify.

A U.S. magistrate was to consider setting bail today and could also decide if Campbell, who faces up to five years in prison and $250,000 in fines if convicted, will travel to Colorado to answer the charge against him.

Five teens jailed in high school massacre plot

OSWEGO, Kan. — Five 17-year-old boys have been charged with murder conspiracy. Officials say they uncovered a plan by the teenagers to shoot administrators, teachers and a student at their high school.

At least 39 weapons — handguns, shotguns and rifles — were seized from the boys' homes, but it was not clear who owned the guns.

The five boys at Labette County High School, in the southeast Kansas town of Altamont, were arrested Saturday and charged Monday. They were expected to remain in a juvenile facility until a bail hearing Jan. 3.

Floridian charged with Web threat

An Associated Press report

DENVER - Warning that they will not tolerate terroristic threats against Columbine High School, federal officials charged an 18-year-old Florida man with sending a computer message that prompted the school to be closed.

Federal authorities arrested Michael Ian Campbell of Cape Coral and charged him with using an interstate communications facility to make a threat of injury to another person. The charge carries a penalty of up to five years in prison and a $250,000 fine.

Campbell is accused of sending an Internet instant message to a 16-year-old Columbine sophomore Wednesday night warning her not to go to school the next day. "I need to finish what begun and if you do I don't want your blood on my hands," it read in part.

Classes at Columbine were canceled Thursday and Friday, forcing the postponement of some final exams until after the holidays. It was the first time the school was closed since classes resumed in August, four months after two seniors killed 12 fellow students, a teacher and themselves in an armed attack.

Lee County teenager accused of making Columbine threat

Michael Ian Campbell, 18, is a community college student in Cape Coral.

■ The mother of the 18-year-old aspiring actor says he told her he sent the message because he was bored.

Compiled from Times wires

CAPE CORAL — A distraught 18-year-old told his mother he sent a threatening note over the Internet to a Columbine High School student because he was "bored to death."

Michael Ian Campbell, who lost his father to cancer four weeks ago, was ordered held at the Lee County Jail where he was placed in solitary confinement and under a suicide watch Friday.

Federal authorities charged him with using an interstate communications facility to make a threat of injury to another person.

Campbell is accused of sending an Internet instant message to a 16-year-old Columbine sophomore Wednesday night warning her not go to school the next day.

Threat from 1A

Pamela Campbell, 60, said her son told her he wrote the message because, "I was bored to death."

"He didn't mean to do anything," she said through tears after her son's court hearing. "This was a stupid, stupid mistake and he knows it and they know it too," referring to the FBI, whose agents made the arrest.

Campbell has a high school equivalency certificate and worked at the Best Buy electronics outlet in Fort Myers. His father, 60-year-old Richard Campbell, died in November.

Campbell just finished his first semester at community college. He also acted in plays at Cape Coral Cultural Theater and wanted to be an actor, his mother said. He had no prior arrest record, she said.

Neighbor Wilma Brauchler, 64, said Campbell had been upset over his father's death.

"He was very close to his father," she said. "I know he's been upset about that."

Neighbor Ken Burns, a teacher and basketball coach at Mariner High School in Cape Coral, said he acted as a mentor to Campbell during the year he attended the school before transferring to Cape Coral High.

Campbell, who neighbors call "Mickey," was a conscientious kid who resented his father's death, Burns said.

"He seemed like he had it together," he said. "I think there might be some anger built up there."

Because of the computer threat, classes at Columbine were canceled Thursday and Friday, forcing the postponement of some final exams until after the holidays. It was the first time the school was shut since classes resumed in August, four months after two seniors killed 12 fellow students, a teacher and themselves in an armed attack on April 20.

Officials would not comment on the seriousness of the threat.

The sender of the instant message used the screen name "Soup 81," and authorities obtained a court order in Denver Thursday that forced Internet service provider America Online to disclose details about an account holder using that name.

FBI agents executed a search warrant at Campbell's house early Friday, questioned him and seized a computer. Officials said Campbell admitted that he used the screen name "Soup 81" and that he sent the message over AOL's instant message system to Erin J. Walton.

Officials said they did not think there was any "long-term link" between Campbell and Miss Walton, and suggested he had learned she was a Columbine student through information about her that was available on the Internet.

The charge against Campbell carries a penalty of up to five years in prison and a $250,000 fine.

"Today's arrest should send a strong message that threats, especially against our schools, will not be tolerated," said Thomas Strickland, U.S. attorney in Denver. "These types of threats are taken very seriously."

Strickland said Campbell would be prosecuted in Colorado. He said it could be a few days to a few weeks before Campbell is moved to Colorado.

At the hearing in Lee County, Campbell's public defender, Martin DerOvanesian, tried to downplay the severity of the threat.

"This was a threat that was not phoned into the school, that was not relayed to a school official," he said.

But U.S. Magistrate Judge George T. Swartz disagreed.

"It scared that young lady enough to call the sheriff's office," he said.
